KODANI IS 'GUILTY' TRIAL NEARING END

Deadlocked Jury Finally Convicts Japanese Accused of Claying Girl.

SALT LAKE, Oct. 24.—After being deadlocked since yesterday evening the jury trying George Kodani, a Japanese photographer who had confessed to the murder of Helena Wood Smith, an artist living at Carmel-by-the-Sea, brought in a verdict late today of guilty, with the recommendation of life imprisonment.

The stubborn disagreement was not over the prisoner's guilt, but the penalty to be inflicted. A strong minority held out for death.

Tugwell Is Formally Charged With Murder

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—The police today formally charged Percy Tugwell with the murder of Mrs. P. B. Kennedy, a wealthy widow whose body was found in a vacant lot here on September 1. Tugwell made a number of contradictory statements regarding the affair. At first he took all the blame for the crime, saying that Philip Kennedy, son of the murdered woman, who also had been arrested, had nothing to do with the crime.

Congress Votes to Adjourn at 4 p. m.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The session of the Sixty-third Congress ended today when both Houses adopted resolutions to adjourn at 4 p. m. to the December recess. The filibuster of southern members to prevent the passage of the anti-lynching bill collapsed at the last moment, after holding up adjournment three days.

Business Property Sold to Capitalist

One of the largest realty deals carried through in the city for some weeks past was announced today when the sale was made public of the Delta Road Company property on Franklin street at the head of Fifteenth street to a P. F. White, a Portland capitalist. The consideration was in the neighborhood of $1,000,000. The property is directly in line with the proposed widening of the street and close to the new "Hester" street, it is expected at the point. When the property is sold to an investor, three bonds are now located on Franklin street—the Farmers and Merchants, the Harbor Bank and the new Portuguese Bank, soon to be opened.

Defense of Accused Slayer of Mrs. Bailey Rests Shortly Before Noon

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 24.—The defense of Mrs. Florence Conalia Carman, on trial for the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey, rested shortly before noon today. Counsel prepared to sum up and instructions were that the case would reach the jury late this afternoon.

Rudolph Loewe, the first witness for the defense, testified that he was on his way to Dr. Edwin Carman's office and within fifteen feet of the window when the shot which killed Mrs. Bailey was fired. Loewe heard the shot, looked up and said he saw a man run across the lawn and leap over the fence.

Although very deaf Loewe was positive he had heard the shot.

The witness said that after hearing the shot he looked into Dr. Carman's office and saw the doctor with a woman in his arms.

Loewe said he looked into the doctor's office for about thirty seconds and that before he left the scene he saw a door open and a woman in white enter the office. By this time, he said, the woman who had been shot was lying on the floor.

WOMAN BEFORE HOUSE.

There were two women in front of the house, the witness added. He said he also saw a man he did not know standing in the vestibule to the doctor's office.

John J. Dunbar, a Freeport police officer, testified that he saw the woman who had been shot.

Peace Treaties Will "Shed Light" Wilson

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 24.—Peace Commission treaties of the kind negotiated between the United States and other foreign countries were spoken of by President Wilson here today as the means of "shedding light" on disputes which will have to be decided by the courts.

The president predicted that after international disputes have been discussed or a treaty has been made, the courts will not be found necessary to settle them.

The president addressed a mass meeting in celebration of the 70th anniversary of the Y. M. C. A. movement and dwelt on the lessons of Christianity, urging young men to be progressive and work for the public welfare.

GERMAN OPERATIONS IN FRANCE DEPEND ON BATTLE

French Repulse Fierce Onslaught of the Germans

Soldiers of France Pray for Snow to Drive Out Enemy

LONDON, Oct. 24, 10:05 a. m.—The German ring around Verdun, according to the Cologne Gazette, is becoming closer daily. A Central News dispatch from Copenhagen 11 French attacks have been in vain.

Colonel Grey, a brother of the British foreign secretary, who was captured near Peronne, France, when a British aeroplane was brought down by the Germans, has been sent to the prisoners camp at Darmstadt.

The Times today prints a dispatch in which its correspondent at Nancy, France, under date of October 12, gives a vivid picture of the fighting on the right wing of the French army.

"Though the French official communications continually state that the situation on the right wing is unchanged," he says, "I do not mean that the opposing armies are marking time. The Germans have made fierce efforts to get Verdun. These efforts were as fiercely repelled and the French field army still stands between the enemy and the city."

REV. BAKER DIES

Former Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church Succumbs Suddenly.

Rev. Ernest E. Baker, formerly pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city, died last evening in St. Luke's Hospital at San Francisco, as the result of a stroke of apoplexy. He was stricken at the San Francisco Ferry building Thursday afternoon and immediately, after the attack he was removed to the hospital but he never regained consciousness. Though he had been ailing since last August, he had attended to his affairs. He had retired from active life about a year ago.

In 1901 Dr. Baker was installed as pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Oakland where he was pastor for seven years. He was a leader in all the parish work and was very popular in the ministerial circles of the bay cities. During his pastorate he was president of the Anti-Saloon League of Northern California, and after having retired from the ministry he was employed in the interior school state freight auditing bureau of San Francisco. He was also vice-president of the California State Teachers' Association.

Acquitted of Fraud, Demands Big Damages

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—Charles E. Gibbs, whose home is in Alameda and who is an investment broker here, began suit for $100,000 damages today against H. U. Jaudin, a local merchant, charging false arrest and imprisonment.

Gibbs was taken into custody last May on a warrant charging him with obtaining money under false pretenses. It was claimed at that time that several persons, including Jaudin, had been led to invest in the Mosses Consolidated mine of Tuolumne county.

Jaudin invested $500 and later claimed that the facts had been fraudulently represented by Gibbs.

Gibbs, in his request for damages, claimed that he was sent to jail for twenty-three hours and that he was forced to put up $20,000 bail to effect his release. Subsequently, he says, Police Judge Crist dismissed the charge against him and he was fully exonerated. He has retained Attorney Walter Dorn.

Two New Hotels Are Planned for Oakland

Two new hotels will shortly be erected in Oakland according to announcement of plans made by I. O. Mead, a local capitalist, who is to erect a "superstructure" at Tenth and Oak streets, and another capitalist whose plans are now in the hands of local brokers.

Mead's hotel will be a seven-story class A structure of brick and steel and will cost the proprietor of $1,700,000 according to architect's estimates. The second hotel as planned will be built at about the same figure. The latter is partly backed by outside capital, according to the announcement of the Berkeley Oakland Hotel and Apartment Association.

Destroyer of British Cruiser Hawke Safe

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 24, via London 5:28 p. m.—A dispatch from Berlin says it is officially announced that the German submarine which sank the British cruiser Hawke has now returned safely to port. The sinking of the British steamer Glitra of Leith by a German submarine near the Norwegian coast is also officially confirmed.

FULL STRENGTH OF TEUTONS IS HURLED INTO CRUCIAL FIGHT

ADVANCE ON BOTH SIDES IS REPORTED BY FRANCE

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Oct. 24, 2:54 p. m.—The official communication given out at the war office this afternoon says the Germans have made progress to the north of Dixmude and in the vicinity of La Bassée. We have made very perceptible advances to the east of Nieuport, in the region of Langemark, and in the region between Armentieres and Lille. It is a question of inevitable fluctuations in the line of combat, which, however, maintains itself as a whole.

"On the rest of the front several German attacks by day and by night have been repulsed. At various places we have made slight progress. In the Wever district our advances have continued in the direction of the forest of Mortuare, to the south of Thanncourt and in the forest of Le Petre, north of Pont-a-Mousson.

"Russia: The Germans are retreating to the south of Warsaw as well as to the west of Ivangorod and Nova Alexandria. Desperate fighting continues in Galicia. At Przemyśl the Russians have taken 2000 Austrians prisoners."

KAISER ALMOST CAPTURED.

LONDON, Oct. 24, 5:38 p. m.—The admiralty today issued the following announcement:

"All of yesterday's monitors and other vessels of the British bombarding flotilla fired on the German right which they searched thoroughly and effectively in concert with the operations of the Belgian army. All German attacks on Nieuport were repulsed. Much damage was done to the enemy by naval fire."

ZEPPELINS GIVE GERMANS SUPPORT.

LONDON, Oct. 24, 10 a. m.—A private Berlin dispatch, according to the correspondent of the Central News at Copenhagen, states that the battle raging between Nieuport and Dixmude is the most violent and the most important of the war. He adds that Zeppelins are said to have given the Germans considerable support.

FIGHT LARGEST BATTLE OF WAR.

PARIS, Oct. 24.—The correspondent in Bellegard, France, of the Echo de Paris has sent the following dispatch to his paper: "Major Morath, in an article in the Berlin Tageblatt, asserts

TO-DAY'S WAR DEVELOPMENTS

By Associated Press.

Two months ago today the British army began its retreat from Mons. Today the battered forces of Sir John French are fifty miles to the north-east of Mons. In the intervening period the impetuous German advance penetrated almost to the gates of Paris, only to be hurled back again in the crucial battle of the Marne, and now the hostile forces are deadlocked.

Today's reports throw little new light on the course of the battle. On the fighting on the plains of Flanders, in the opinion of the German, French and British observers depends in large measure the outcome of the whole campaign.

The official French statement indicates what intensifies the opposing forces are contesting the issue. It is admitted that the Germans have advanced to the north of Dixmude and in the neighborhood of La Bassée, but as a counter stroke it is said the French have pushed forward of Nieuport, in the region of Langemark, and between Armentieres and Lille. These in the language of the French war office, are "inevitable fluctuations of a contest waged so fiercely."

The war office contented itself with the general statement that the line of combat as a whole has been maintained.

'STRUGGLE GREATEST OF ALL'

Crucial Conflict of Big War Wages on Belgian Soil

Outcome May Decide the Future Operations of Germans in France

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 24, 1:15 p. m.—Saberblades have been so frequently used in the attempts to describe the engagements of the present war that the emphasis of such terms as "most desperate," "violent" and "crucial" has been weakened by daily use; but today, as though by mutual agreement, both German and British newspapers characterize the conflict along the front from Lille in France to the Belgian seaboard as the greatest struggle of all.

London newspapers were quick to seize the suggestion of a German military expert, as cabled here from Berlin, that this is the crucial conflict of the whole campaign and whether this be so it is contended that the outcome is likely to decide the future of German operations in France. Reinforcements of 600,000 men are said to have been rushed to the German right wing, and it seems no exaggeration to say that these operations spell the supreme effort of the invaders to break through the allies line. Being denied the use of warships, which have been rendering good service for the allies, Germany is said to be throwing her air craft, and particularly Zeppelins, more and more into the fray and news dispatches relate that the operations of Zeppelins have been a marked feature of the fighting to the south-west of Ostend, toward which support the troops of France, England and Belgium are said to be working their way.

WHICH HAS ADVANTAGE.

This, in brief, is a broad view in France and Belgium from the English standpoint. Which side has the advantage?

Germans in Antwerp Forbidden to Loot

By Associated Press.

THE HAGUE, via London, Oct. 24, 10:10 a. m.—Major General Von Bodenhausen, military commander of Antwerp, issued a proclamation, countersigned by Burgomaster Devos of Antwerp, warning the German troops that they are not permitted to commit any looting whatever and that this privilege is only allowed to officers in accordance with the necessities of military occupation.

Anything the soldiers need they must buy the general's proclamation recites and he strictly forbids them to break into shops.

German papers advices from Halle, Germany, state the German authorities have opened an inquiry to discover whether General Lyman, the defender of Liege who is a prisoner at Valenciennes, can be identified as Heinrich Lehmann, a soldier of the German army, who deserted during the war of 1870. There appears to be an extraordinary likeness between the men.

Interference With U. S. Trade Stopped

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—British cruisers will not interfere with American commerce on the grounds in New York. Attention of the British government was called to the practice at the secret of the Navy Department and it was given for its prompt discontinuance. It was made known today since the testimony of the European war several British cruisers off Sandy Hook have stopped and searched neutral ships to establish their nationality and destination and the nature of their cargoes.

GERMANY TO RESPECT MONROE DOCTRINE, HOWEVER WAR ENDS

COUNT BERNSTORFF SAYS HE ASSURED U. S. EARLY IN THE WAR

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The German ambassador, Count Bernstorff, said today that early in the European war he had assured the United States government that, whatever the outcome of the conflict, Germany would respect the Monroe Doctrine.

Count Bernstorff said he had filed with the state department on September 3, soon after his arrival in this country from Berlin, a written official statement that Germany would not infringe on the Monroe Doctrine, no matter what the outcome of the war.

The ambassador said that his assurance had first been given informally in a conversation with one of the officials of the state department that he could not recall whether it was Secretary Bryan or Counselor Lansing. Lansing said today the assurance had not been given to him and that he did not know of them. Secretary Bryan is in the West speaking in the Congressional campaign.

The ambassador said the statement was made because of statements from various English sources that Germany, if successful, would not respect the Monroe Doctrine, and that doubtless would attempt to make great colonization schemes in South America.

The ambassador said that he later put the matter in writing.

TITANIC STRUGGLE ON BELGIAN SOIL

Battle Near Coast Declared to Be Greatest of European War.

Advantage is not known except to the general staffs of the opposing armies. All the public will know, barring something unforeseen in the nature of a catastrophe to one army or the other, is that the terrific artillery duel near the Belgian coast has continued, and that one side was pushed back here only to advance there, as was explained in the official communication issued in Paris last night.

That the Russians, generally speaking, continue to hold the upper hand in the eastern arena of the war is the gist of most dispatches reaching London, and accepting this as true, England "thinks" that the pushing of Germany on the defensive in this territory will prevent her from transferring any forces to the western arena.

The French forts at Verdun came to the fore again today as a result of news from German sources to the effect that German forces are drawing closer to these positions and that the French sorties are failing. London newspapers are treating as significant the withdrawal of German troops from Antwerp and Brussels, but these movements would appear to be only part of Germany's plan of reinforcing her fighting line. The dragnet for Germans and Austrians in the British Isles is still spread out, but there has been a temporary lull in these efforts, due to the lack of adequate detention camps.

GERMAN EFFORT AT BETHUNE FAILS

Allies Check Turning Movement After Arduous Close Fighting.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Oct. 24.—"The invaders, having first failed before Albert and Roye and secondly before Arras, in their attempts to envelop the French left wing, are believed to have been more fortunate in the region of Bethune, Merville, Bailleul and Arras," says a Havas agency dispatch dated "Before La Bassée, in October."

"For this reason, after pushing forward towards Hazebrouck (23 miles northwest of Lille) and Aire on the Yse, they undertook on October 14, an offensive following the line of the Yse. German cavalry crossed the river toward Enghien and supported the right wing of the bulk of the German army, which proceeded south and southwestward with the evident intention of turning Bethune and seizing the railroads which the Germans have been using for supplying the left wing of the army."

"The Germans have placed a battery of Austrian 42-centimeter guns on the site of Camp des Romains, which commands St. Mihiel and is most important part of the Westwall. It is most important that the French recapture this position, but it will take the most severe kind of fighting to do so."

Zeppelins Equipped for Battle on Seas

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—"For the last few days Zeppelins have been practicing the firing of torpedoes from a great height, using as targets rafts floating on Lake Constance," the Milan correspondent of the Daily Mail says. "It is reported that the result has been so satisfactory that the German authorities are equipping a fleet of Zeppelins with tubes and torpedo apparatus which will be ready in a few months to co-operate in naval attacks in the North Sea."

German Schooner Falls Into Japanese Hands

By Associated Press.

HONOLULU, Oct. 24.—In sight of the harbor observers at the mouth of the harbor the Japanese battleship Hizen captured today a small German steam schooner, supposedly from the Marshall Islands. The Hizen has at no time entered the territorial waters, and it was not possible to learn the prize's name.

Alie Livingston, an ex-convict, was captured this afternoon after a chase through the streets of Oakland, when he was cornered in a barn at 1311 Alameda street by E. J. Brokey, an expressman, Livingston, who has served four terms in San Quentin on burglary charges, is alleged to have attempted to steal Brokey's overcoat from the wagon. Brokey chased him, despite the fact that Livingston threatened him with a revolver. From Harrison and Tenth streets down to Sixth street and back to Eleventh and Alameda streets, where he was cornered and arrested by Officers Kyle and Neils.

SERVIANS ARE DEFEATED VIENNA

Austrian Victory Reported; Russia Announces Big Battle Raging.

By Associated Press.

VIENNA, Oct. 24, via London, Oct. 24, 3:43 p. m.—A dispatch from Vienna brings the official announcement by the Austrian government under date of October 23:

"Strong Serbian and Montenegrin forces which had penetrated the southeastern frontier districts in East Bosnia that were without offensive works were defeated on October 22 after a severe battle lasting three days in the region of Njokro, and forced to retreat heavily. Details will follow later as the results of the pursuit are not yet known."

The report of the battle was signed by Ordinance Master Potokre.

COMBAT ON SAN.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—Telegraphing from Vladimir, in the Russian government of Volhynia under date of Wednesday, the correspondent of the Times says:

"A battle, which for numbers engaged and the bitterness of the fighting is probably one of the greatest of the present war, is now raging on the line from Sambor, along the river San to Przemyel and Jaroslau, and then to the southward. I traveled over a distance of about fifty miles in the fear of and parallel to the Russian position, on which at points cannonading was terrific and interrupted the battle having lasted for eight days."

"It is difficult to get details, but it appears that the Austrians started the attack at Sambor, but were thrown back by vigorous Russian counter-attacks. Then a concentration of the Austrians was attempted, an advance against Lemberg with the object of bisecting the Russian line. This attack was defeated with heavy Austrian losses and the capture of 5000 Austrian prisoners."

"Towards Jaroslau the Germans are co-operating with the Austrians, who took Jaroslau earlier in the fighting, but the Russians are now said to have recaptured the town."

AUSTRIAN CLAIM.

The official Austrian statement given out at noon Friday is contained in a dispatch from Vienna by way of Company. It says:

"While yesterday in the battle south of Przemyel our heavy artillery had been especially active, severe fighting developed today on the banks of the lower San, where at several points we allowed the enemy to cross the river. These Russian forces have now been severely attacked by our troops and pressed against the river. At Varzeza we captured over a thousand Russians."

"Parts of our troops suddenly appeared before Ivanoigorod, and beat two Russian divisions. We captured 3600 prisoners, one standard and fifteen machine guns."

"Returning from a successful action on the river Save our monitor Torgue struck a mine and sank. Thirty-three men are missing, but the others were saved."

"During their unsuccessful march on Warsaw, the Germans sent airplanes daily to throw bombs into that city for the purpose of terrifying the population. Very little material damage was done, but a number of persons were killed or wounded. On October 19th no fewer than fourteen bombs were thrown, killing nine persons and wounding fifty-six others, including women and children."

The foregoing is a dispatch from the Daily Mail correspondent at Moscow.

RUSSIAN TACTICS DARING.

Describing the recent fighting the Petrograd correspondent of the Post says that the Germans had determined to cross the Vistula in the neighborhood of Ivanogorod, where the river is a quarter of a mile wide. They pushed near enough to the fortress to bombard it with heavy guns," the correspondent declares, "but they caused small damage and the bridges were entirely unharmed. Doubtless they may have omitted to destroy the bridges, hoping to utilize them for crossing, but this omission facilitated the Russian advance. The Garrison of the fortress joined the field army in driving back the German forces at this point."

The correspondent comments that

CONDITIONS IN ANTWERP RETURNING TO NORMAL

By Associated Press.

ANTWERP, Oct. 23, via Rotterdam to London, Oct. 24.—Antwerp gradually is returning to normal conditions. About 150,000 of the 250,000 inhabitants, most of whom fled the city when the Germans occupied it, have returned to their homes.

Some bakeries, meat shops and grocery stores are opening in the poorer section of the city, and a few old women with dog carts are offering apples and vegetables in the once busy markets. The German flag flies from the tower of the Cathedral of Notre Dame, but Belgian priests are reading mass as usual.

Belgians, German soldiers and German officers, many of whom have their wives with them, are living quietly in the leading hotels, which are forced to keep open for the army. The streets virtually are deserted, except for the gray German automobiles, which dash along at mad speed, carrying officers.

NO TRIBUTE LEVIED.

No tribute has been levied on the city as yet, except that the Germans have demanded supplies for their army. General von Huehne is governor general of the military government. Major General von Benthien, commander of the fortress of Antwerp, will be installed shortly as civil governor to take charge of the issuance of passports and other duties which have been performed by Henry Diederich, until recently American consul general at Antwerp, and the Belgian burgomaster, J. de Vos, acting in conjunction with German soldiers and many plain clothes German detectives.

General von Huehne has given assurance that Belgians will not be forced to dig entrenchments or do other work for the Germans if they return to the Belgian cities. Every consideration is being shown the Belgians by the Germans, but this kindness makes the Belgians suspicious, as they say they believe that a trap is being laid for them.

OVER 12,000 RETURNED.

More than 12,000 Belgians returned to Antwerp today, and probably half that number from Holland. The first train running from Antwerp to Rotterdam, and the first service is being maintained both ways during daylight hours, and all trains are crowded. All the Holland border towns are filled with refugees, and the roads about Antwerp are crowded with refugees.

Virtually all the highway in the north of Belgium and in the south of Holland are filled with refugee pedestrian and dog and horse carts loaded with furniture and household goods. The roads are crowded with refugees, and the roads are crowded with refugees.

"Belgians leveled forests. The country about Antwerp is desolate, as the Belgians leveled the forests to give the forts a better chance at the approaching enemy. It is estimated that about three hundred buildings were destroyed in Antwerp by bombs, most of these structures being residences. The Hotel de Europe and the Taverne, in the center of the town, are among the few buildings that remain. The streets are filled with ruins, and the roads are crowded with refugees."

canals and at the docks, efforts to open shipping continuing unavailing, as Holland controls the mouth of the Scheldt river. The factories are closed and the American consulate is looking after the business interests of citizens of the allied countries. The State and Stripes fly at the office of the Red Star Line, the American Petroleum Company and other American concerns.

SIXTY PERSONS KILLED.

It is estimated that sixty persons were killed during the bombardment of Antwerp. Theophile de Maistre, Argentine consul at Antwerp, was the first prominent victim. He was killed in the cellar of his home, which was hit by a shell. Later it was reported in the cemetery, with the bodies of Captain Hammond and forty-nine English soldiers.

The wounded were left in the Belgian military hospital by the feeling forces who were unable to take all with them. Most of the British marines were wounded, and the British army is in a state of emergency.

NEARLY 100 LIVES.

Consul Diederich and the American vice-consul, Harry Sherman, both narrowly escaped death during the bombardment. They lived on the south side of the city, where the shelling occurred. The operators of a Zeppelin dirigible balloon dropped a bomb within 200 feet of Mr. Sherman's home, and the house adjoining Mr. Diederich's residence was wrecked by a bomb.

"Practically all the German forces have evacuated Antwerp and marched south, apparently to take part in the conflict," the Daily Chronicle says.

WELDED BY LANDSTROM.

A dispatch to the Times from Flushing, dated Friday, says:

"A telegram from Breda, Netherlands, states that only a few hundred men of the German landwehr remain in Antwerp. The staff left the Hotel St. Antoine and during the night of Wednesday and the early hours of Thursday the German army marched out of the town, the passage of the column occupying ninety minutes. The troops went southward by the railway."

"The whole environs of the town are deserted and the German railway staff, which has been occupied in rebuilding the bridges and railway lines, has disappeared. The Bavarians have machine guns, probably unserviceable, into the streets."

Let England Care for Belgians Is Sentiment

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—"England can and will look after the Belgian refugees in Great Britain," says the Daily Chronicle in an editorial today. "But our duty does not end here. Belgium is a small country, with the heavy burden imposed by the war, it is not right that she should be left to struggle unaided with the problem of housing and feeding a million refugees. We hold it is an obligation of honor for Great Britain to come to her rescue."

"Let the British government undertake to bear the whole cost of the maintenance of these refugees. The British nation will rejoice if the government acts promptly and handsomely, but it will not forgive tardiness or parsimony."

"As for the problem of the Belgians left in our own country, the need for relief is an editorial line. It is self-evident. We rejoice that the American people, true to their character, have taken the lead in the organization of funds to deal with this tremendous problem. This compassionate government deserves generous support in England as well as America."

that the largest battle of the war is being fought between Lille and Dunkirk. He says it is a combat of life and death and that on its issue depends the fate of the operations in France. On the contrary, General Blume, writing for the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger, says he does not expect a rapid solution, believing that the battle in France will finish only when the forces of one side or the other are exhausted."

"LIFE AND DEATH STRUGGLE."

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 24, 10:02 a. m.—What a German military expert has called a life and death struggle for Germany is still raging along the coast end of the western battle front, and every indication shows that the invaders are hurling their full strength against the allies in a determined effort to capture Dunkirk and Calais.

Strange reports come from various captured cities in Belgium of evacuation, or the preparation for departure, of German forces, but these movements may merely mean that every available man is being thrown forward to the Franco-Belgian frontier and does not necessarily forecast the abandonment of positions.

Antwerp is said to have been practically deserted, and the wives of German officers in Brussels are said to have received orders to leave within forty-eight hours.

ACTION CONTINUES WITH VIOLENCE.

Paris reports that the action on the allies' left continues with great violence, especially around Arras, La Bassée and Armentieres, where some of the most desperate fighting of the war has taken place.

A special dispatch states that the allies have advanced further on Ostend, their lines now extending from the coast to a point between Slype and St. Pierre Cappel. Other dispatches relate that the Germans have a success on the Yser, are leaving the coast and working around by Dixmude to Lille, thereby clearing the way to Ostend, and leaving their position open to a flanking movement by the allies.

One thing emerges clear from all the reports and that is that incessant fighting prevails over the West Flanders front from Roulers to Thourout and between Nieupoort and Ostend.

Petrograd reports a continuation of the pursuit of the Germans retreating from Warsaw and admits an unexpectedly stubborn resistance to the Russian offensive from the Austrians on the San, while the official Vienna report, after detailing successes before Przemyel and a dashing movement toward the Vistula, admits that the Russians were permitted to cross the San in several places.

England is hoping today that the career of the famous commerce destroyer Emden is ended. This hope is based on two more or less cryptic cables from Bombay, one issued by the Bombay government declaring that all sea routes may be considered reasonably safe from 9 o'clock in the evening of October 21, and the other an unconfirmed report from Bombay to the Morning Post, dated the 22d, that the Emden had been accounted for.

The problem of feeding the starving people of Belgium is daily growing more acute and the American commission finds itself hampered by the food embargo prevailing here and the equally hopeless task of finding adequate supplies in Holland. England's order against the importation of sugar is significant of the government's attitude toward the movement of any commodity that might assist its enemies.

The French aviators continue to give proof of courage at the same time adding considerably to the list of German dead. One bomb thrown during an assembly of cavalry killed 30 of the enemy.

In another case two bombs killed eight and wounded 22. Similar incidents are of almost daily occurrence, and in one case the staff of a German division was so annoyed by French aviation that it was compelled to change its headquarters.

The Germans, in opposing these attacks, have installed on automobiles or simply on two wheels, a special cannon from which they fire vertically at aéroplanes. In each locality which the Germans occupy a regular squad watches the horizon. At the appearance of French machines bells signal the people to go into their houses so as to give the locality an uninhabited appearance.

Berlin Reports German Forces Succeed in Crossing Yser Canal During Battle

By Associated Press.

BERLIN, Oct. 24, via Amsterdam and London, Oct. 24, 5:03 p. m.—German army headquarters makes the following official announcement under today's date:

"The fighting continues severely in the district of the Yser Canal. In the north we succeeded in crossing the canal with great forces."

"The Yser and the southwest of Lille our troops are slowly advancing."

"British ships yesterday bombarded Ostend without reason. In the Argonne Forest our troops also are advancing, capturing some machine guns and a number of prisoners. Two French aeroplanes were brought down."

"North of Toul near Fleury, the French declined a short truce to permit the burial of the dead and the recovery of the wounded who are covering the field in front of the French battle line."

"West of Augustow the Russians renewed their attacks but were repulsed."

France Declares Faith Should Not Be Placed on German Bulletins

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Oct. 24, 4:10 p. m.—Semi-official comment on the present situation was made this afternoon by the military authorities of Paris as follows:

"It is proper again to call to the public attention that faith should not be placed on the official bulletins of the German general staff. A bulletin given out by this staff alleges that our attacks on the heights to the south of Thiaucourt were repulsed, with considerable losses to our men. As a matter of fact, our offensive in this direction found it impossible to maintain itself at all points won in the course of this advance movement; nevertheless we were successful in retaining, as a whole, the major part of the terrain which our offensive movement succeeded in taking."

"This morning a German officer was under a flag of truce to the commander of the French army operating in this region. He requested an armistice to bury the dead and remove the wounded. The French commander sent this officer back to his line and immediately caused the capture of the German officer. The fighting some time ago, has arrived at Marseilles with other German prisoners."

When captured recently and brought to Paris General Von Friese attempted to commit suicide by stabbing himself in the stomach. He has apparently recovered from the injuries he then inflicted.

Captured General Attempts Suicide

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Oct. 24.—The Echo de Paris reports that General Von Friese, the commander of the Twenty-fifth brigade of German artillery, who was captured by the French during the fighting some time ago, has arrived at Marseilles with other German prisoners.

When captured recently and brought to Paris General Von Friese attempted to commit suicide by stabbing himself in the stomach. He has apparently recovered from the injuries he then inflicted.

THE MAGIC GIFT

By LILLIAN RUSSELL

Copyright, 1914, by LILLIAN RUSSELL. KINDNESS and generosity of spirit is the finish, the ribbon, and star of human nature. Beauty is the sign of health, harmonious development and fine feeling, may well draw all eyes after it, and is not beneath any woman's regard. But to make beauty the one aim in life, just to gain power over others less gifted of her sex, is beneath contempt. The time has come for a finer civilization which will realize higher health, longer life and richer delight than the world has yet known. The first step toward this will be an awakening to the value of health upon life. Why, the first duty of religion is to secure perfect health, so much so the usefulness and purity of the spirit depend upon it. So many fail to obey the laws of self-preservation—which insure life to those who prize it and beauty to women who value it more than life. To be beautiful is rare. To be charming is within the reach of every woman still rarer than mere beauty. The magic girdle of Venus was the gift of charming, without which she was merely a pretty woman. A woman careless of complexion, toilet, and air, by virtue of good humor, inborn instinct, may set society playing harmoniously and leaves a pleasant impression on every creature with whom she has speech. Dissect the charm as you please. Make many words about it. You will never come nearer the secret than it is nature's fine magic, only not like magic, so transferable. It is, however, contagious. Lillian Russell

Answers to Queries. E.—I would not advise you to do anything to make your hair brown. I should think you have had enough experience with the bleach not to want to have more with a hair dye. I see no reason for your having red hair. I think red hair is beautiful, for usually the red haired girl has such a clear complexion. You will ruin your hair if you dye it now. It is best to leave it as it is. I am sorry I cannot give you the formula for hair dye, but I do not believe in dyes and they are injurious to the hair. H. H.—How do you know your blood is too hot? It would not be advisable for you to take anything to "cool it." Go to a physician and see what he says about it. One hundred and thirty pounds is not too stout, and I do not think that is the reason you flush so. Self-consciousness is the cause of flushing. If you are self-conscious, forget about yourself entirely. Think of others, and be able to converse on different subjects. Do not wear tight clothing. If you think you have too much blood you would better consult a physician regarding it. LILLIAN.—The first thing to do for corns is to relieve them from all pressure. Loose shoes cause corns just as quickly if not more so, than tight shoes; for when the shoes are too large there is a constant friction, and this makes a corn. The best way to relieve a corn is with a corn plaster or with a felt disc. A hole is cut in the center, large enough for the corn to come through. This relieves the pressure on the corn. The following lotion is good for removing them: Twenty grains salicylic acid, one-eighth ounce alcohol, one ounce distilled water. This may be applied to hard surface of corn with a small brush. Do this once or twice daily for three days, then soak in hot water, when a layer of skin will come off. Repeat until corn has disappeared. A. M.—If the head is bent down the hair will close naturally, and if the air in the room is good, if you are not sleeping too close to the wall, and if there is no obstruction, such as adenoids, you will have no trouble in getting into the habit of sleeping with your mouth closed. L.—Do not pull the hairs out of your nose. You can make them less noticeable by plucking absorbent cotton, which has been saturated with peroxide in the nostrils. This will bleach the hairs. MRS. M. L.—You must be mistaken in regard to the formula you say was printed in my column. There is no such formula, and have never printed the formula you mentioned. I have a formula for saline for pimples that I shall gladly send to you if you will send me a stamped addressed envelope. M. R. F.—The first thing for you to do is to look to your diet. Tiny boils on the face are usually caused from indigestion or impure blood. Eat only vegetables and little meat, drink plenty of water between meals, also milk instead of tea or coffee, and eat plenty of fruit. Cleanse the face thoroughly with a soap and water. At night, before retiring, after using the cream wash the face with warm water and a good soap. It is best to open each little pimple with a fine needle and take out the contents. Boils on the face can be treated with warm water so as to soften it. Apply peroxide to each boil after opening it. MAY.—Very often filled teeth become discolored. I am sorry, but I know of nothing that will whiten them. You might inquire of your dentist. Perhaps he would suggest something that would help you. If your teeth are crooked I would advise you to have them straightened. Nothing is prettier than an even row of white teeth, but nothing spoils one's appearance more than uneven teeth. Do not be afraid to have them straightened. I certainly would not advise you to have false teeth. You are still young and healthy, and you should have your own teeth. I have known people who have become taller after their twentieth year. There is nothing that I know of that will make you taller. BLANK.—I cannot print the dietary for reducing flesh on account of lack of space, but I shall be happy to send it to you if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope. To bleach the fingernails, grind a bit of absorbent cotton around the end of an orange wood stick, then dip it in peroxide and run under the nails. I shall also send you the formula for a hair tonic which is excellent for dandruff and falling hair.

Boy Is Athlete Baseball Player Melvin Hill, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hill of Fruitvale is becoming skilled in the outdoor games. Though he is not yet in his teens, he has already mastered the rules in baseball and enjoys the sport. Boys and girls of all sizes and ages are playing baseball and basketball in the local playgrounds. The athletic clubs for girls in the Oakland playgrounds are divided into groups according to age. Many of the young people of the recreation centers are striving to win the "playground" which is awarded by the supervisors in charge of the grounds.

STUDENTS PAY VISIT TO EXPOSITION SITE

Several hundred boys and girls of the Oakland Technical high school visited the exposition grounds yesterday, when they inspected the buildings and enjoyed the outing. Many of the members of the faculty accompanied the delegates. Last Saturday the representatives of the historical society of the Oakland Technical high school were entertained on the campus by Dr. Waterman of the University of California, who gave a lecture on the "American Indian." The society is composed of students of history. Its president is Mr. Korsch; secretary, Grant De Bois; and Lawrence Spencer, clerk. The general committee of the society consists of Grant De Bois, chairman; Ruth Gleason, Margaret Wood, Guy Caldeira, Chas. O'Brien, Ruby Hastings, Margaret Nequist, Richard Henry, Max Nye, Miss Merchant Meyer, Frank Elliot, Lawrence Spencer, Miss Lucille Bodan, Miss Glenora Everhart, Warren Smith, Eldon Colley, Eula Lutz, Miss Marie Hughes and Herbert H. COLLEGE GIRLS ANGRY: 'SNUBBED' BY TEACHER

Revolt May Follow Sarcasm; Helen Taft and Class-mates Protest

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24.—Miss Helen Taft, daughter of the former President, who headed a large delegation of Bryn Mawr college girls in a protest against the recent elimination of the college out system, was politely but firmly snubbed by Miss M. C. Thomas, president of the college, when she turned on her heel and walked from a meeting which the students had arranged. A general students' strike now is imminent. Under the old system of cuts for classroom and lecture work ladies were permitted to attend or not, as they pleased; but now they are penalized for cutting. They object to this on the ground that the ruling is a reflection on their self-governing organization. Miss Thomas first addressed the protesting girls, announced her entire confidence in the students, saying the new rule was for their best interests, and then abruptly left the sessions without waiting to hear what Helen Taft or any of the other students had to say, and without giving them any satisfaction as to her future action in the matter. The arbitrary action of their president came like a thunderbolt on the girls and the meeting came to a sudden termination. News of the snub administered by Miss Thomas spread throughout the campus, and today rumors of summary retaliation on the students' part are rife.

WOMAN IS SUED BY 'EXTRA HUSBAND'

STOCKTON, Oct. 24.—Adolph Fleig, an Oakland business man, has filed suit to annul his marriage to Mrs. Harriet E. Fleig, a divorcee, in a San Francisco department store. The wedding took place in Stockton two years ago and the couple lived as man and wife in Oakland until two months ago, when Fleig alleged he discovered that his wife had an undisclosed husband, John Reyer, residing in Mayville, Ark. Mrs. Lee, or Fleig, had been married twice before she married Fleig. She told Fleig that her first husband was dead. Fleig traced him through the Pension Department at Washington. SANTA ROSA GIRL IS CLAIMED AS BRIDE SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—Miss Hazel Marie Marble and John C. Marcher Jr. were married quietly yesterday afternoon at the First Unitarian church. Rev. Caleb Dutton, the pastor, officiating. The bride is a daughter of the late John H. Marble, who was an Interstate Commerce Commissioner, and Mrs. Mattie L. Marble of Santa Rosa. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Marcher of Washington, D. C. Owing to the recent death of Mr. Marble a few of the bride's immediate relatives were the only attendants at the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Marcher have passed a good deal of their time recently in Washington, D. C., where they were prominent in government social circles. After a brief honeymoon they will make their home at Santa Rosa.

FOR SALE: MARRIAGE LICENSE FROM YOLO

WASHINGTON, Yolo County, Oct. 24.—Just why Irving Cross Cunningham, a young business man of this town, wanted to get two marriage licenses before he was married to Amelia Kaelin has not been explained yet, for the couple, who were married Wednesday evening in this city, are on their honeymoon and cannot be reached. That Cunningham obtained two licenses is a matter of record. He obtained one at Woodland, Yolo county, and the other he purchased from the county clerk in Sacramento county. The Sacramento county license Cunningham and his bride used, but the Yolo county one they will be willing, probably, to sell for fifty cents on the dollar.

BRIDE IS OFF UPON 'HONEYMOON YACHT'

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 24.—Saluted by the whistles of many flags, the yacht Adiana, having on board the owner and his bride of a few weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Earl Miller, started from here Thursday for the voyage to San Francisco through the Panama canal. Mrs. Miller was Miss Delphine Hammer of Branford, Conn.

Vive la Chapeau Joffre! War is all that Sherman said it was—aye, and more—and the husbands and fathers of Oakland have declared it. They have dug, delved, or pumpled deep into their purses, for the European war has meant new hats and new dresses, as the fashions have changed, and great is the woe thereof in masculine hearts attached to pocket books. 'Tis all because the Joffre hat is now the rage in Oakland. A high, military looking affair, it looks "just too sweet," according to wives and daughters—and according to fathers and husbands who pay the bills. However, it's here and it's the rage—and the girls insist. Hence—the Joffre hat! And the trouble is—a dragoon coat must go with it. More masculine waist! The new coat comes in blue, with military loops and braid.

Entire Economic Condition of France Rests in Hands of Women, Says Madame Ise'bell Trained and Ready for the Work by Years of Thrift and Financial Responsibility.

FRENCH WOMEN IN WAR TIME. The daily papers tell us a great deal of what the men are doing in Europe, but as to how the women are filling their role in this awful tragedy is left most to the imagination. I did not leave Paris until middle September and the six weeks that I passed in France since the declaration of war gave me a new idea of the French woman. I had known her as the example of the mondaine, as a thrifty business woman, as a good housekeeper and a faithful and intelligent servant, but I had by no means gauged the extent of her self-reliance, her self-abnegation, courage and fidelity to a cause. Mobilization in France meant that every man from twenty-one to forty-

"dots" for the daughters. This incalculable thrift and responsibility. In the managing of any affairs entrusted to her, whether it be the dress allowance, or a big business, the French woman is thrifty by instinct, by training and because she believes it to be a duty. French women do not dilate on what they spend but on what they save. You will note this trait in the talk of the school girls when they are discussing dress. They will tell how they make hair ribbons do double duty by some skillful process of cleaning and pressing, or some other little trick of saving money. They are brought up to take a pride in being thrifty and economical and to think it a sign of vulgarity to do otherwise. A French family that does not save is a rare exception. Not to do so in some degree is a sign of bad management from which no woman can be absolved by any plea as of the cost of living. These national traits have in a large measure prepared the French woman for the rainy day when the bread winner shall be absent. Often the French woman's "dot" is in her husband's business and this gives her an interest in it which in the case of the small shopkeeper always means an active participation. She keeps the books, directs the clerks, knows what money comes in and the destination of what goes out. SHE GUARDS HER DOWRY. If the business is of a kind that does not necessitate the woman's direct aid, she is generally well informed regarding it. Her husband consults her and confides in her. In short, while politically she has no power and legally only a restricted right even over her own fortune and earnings, in the managing and directing of the joint family affairs she is an important factor. The first effect of mobilization was to close up all the shops and all the industries of Paris save those that fed or

He's 86, But Frets Because He's Barred From Entering War

HAYWARD, Oct. 24.—Ernest Rex, aged 86, wants to fight for France. The French consul says he is too old even for the reserve, but the veteran soldier is persistent and claims he can combat half a dozen of the enemy. He is one of the oldest residents in the district, and although he has lived in California for a considerable portion of his life is still loyal to La Patrie. On the outbreak of the war the old man's patriotism boiled over and he offered his services to help his country in any capacity, preferably in the fighting line. He was informed he was rather above the age limit and is nursing his indignation that he can't have a hand in the fray.

Just as his car plunged into the slough he jumped clear and alighted on dry land. His car, however, tumbled in the water. The machine was later hauled out and the proceeds of the day's sport, which had floated off down stream, were recovered.

Cotton Loan Plan Is Before Board

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The federal reserve board had before it today for formal consideration the cotton fund plan, designed to meet the situation in the South caused by the European war, and government officials were of opinion it would be approved. It was pointed out that upon the adoption of the plan largely depended the success of the conference between board members, Sir George Parkes and Basil B. Blackett, representing the British treasury and New York banks, looking to the adjustment of conditions in the foreign exchange market due to the war and which were continued today.

The belief was expressed today that as a result of the conference various problems involved would be settled without much difficulty.

Hindus Arrested; Murder Plot, Charge

These arrests were the outcome of efforts made by the local police and immigration authorities to destroy the sect of rebellious Hindu residents alleged to have been responsible for the death of Inspector Hopkinson, who was shot at the courthouse on October 21.

Another arrest will probably be made tomorrow.

HIS MOTHER SUES FOR ANNULMENT

ELOPE AGAIN, HIS THREAT

MRS. ALICE WESTPHAL-GRANWELL-BLAKE.

Wife Willing to Return to Stage for Her Living

"It's no use. We'll just elope again."

That is the ultimatum of Thomas Blake Jr., youthful bridegroom, whose mother, Mrs. M. B. Blake, is seeking to annul his marriage to Alice Westphal Cranwell-Blake, niece of two clowns, dancer and amateur actress, and daughter of the pioneer family of Oakland milling millionaires.

The young wife is at her parents' home vowing that she will stand by her husband, and declaring that if necessary they will run away to go on the stage.

The bridegroom is equally determined that they shall not be parted, and declares that he can see no reason for his mother's action, save that he was to inherit a large estate on coming of age.

Mrs. Blake, following the filing of an annulment suit, left her Oakland home for Visalia. Young Blake declares that he and his wife had lived together for a year; that apparently there was no trouble between her and his mother and that the annulment action was one he knew nothing of.

"It was a complete surprise," declared Blake, "and the only motive can be that I am now nearly of age and about to inherit my father's estate. There never has been any objection to my wife expressed by my mother, and she did not consult me on this action."

MAY LEAVE COUNTRY.
"Anyhow my wife and I are living together, and have been ever since she came back from Victoria. I intend to fight this annulment, and even if necessary to elope once more and leave the country I will do so, for I love my wife."

According to Blake his father left a large estate in Tulare county, valued at about $100,000. Blake himself was recently in Canada, planning to go into the business of cattle raising, and in the meantime his wife went north and entered a vaudeville circuit. She appeared in several theaters and under the name of Alice Lalleon. She was to have secured an engagement in a local vaudeville house when she suddenly decided to abandon the stage and returned to Oakland to rejoin her husband. She is now at the J. C. Westphal home, 1245 Madison street, where her husband joined her.

Mrs. Westphal, mother of the bride, also expresses surprise at the sudden annulment suit.

NO REASON, SHE SAYS.
"The couple never had any trouble," she declared, "and I am at an absolute loss to understand what the action was taken for. The couple were living happily with us at the time the suit was started."

Mrs. Blake agrees with her mother and declares that she will stand by her youthful husband. If his alliance is cut off, she declares, she will again go upon the stage. They intend with the aid of the Westphal family to fight the annulment proceedings, brought on the ground that the youth was not of age at the time of the marriage.

Blake and his bride met when she was the 16-year-old wife of Lewis Cranwell, whom she eloped with, and was later separated from by her parents. She was to have married the youthful husband to the house, Cranwell attracted considerable attention in a local cafe when he found his wife with a party of friends. At the time he was ejected from the premises, later the marriage was annulled and she eloped with Blake.

Piedmont Baths May Open Under New Name

Should the city council, who will receive application for permits and rights of way Monday morning, grant permission, the historic Piedmont Baths will be reopened under the name of the Oakland Lulline Baths, with improvements and supplied with water brought in barges from the middle of San Francisco Bay and piped from a pumping station in the estuary to the bath tanks.

The deal involves the taking over of the baths by W. H. Boole, Oakland capitalist and former shipbuilder, whose shipyards are now the Moore & Scott yards of Oakland.

The negotiations were practically completed this week through the Lavinia Realty Company, Boole heading a firm that will take over the property at the foot of Oakland avenue. The buildings will be renovated, the tanks enlarged and other improvements will be installed by 1915.

LINER MONGOLIA SAILS: PASSENGER LIST LARGE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—The Pacific Mail liner Mongolia sailed at 1:15 this afternoon for Hongkong and other ports of the Orient, carrying a capacity passenger list and a packed hold. The company was forced to refuse passage to a large number of persons who made their reservations too late, as every stateroom was crowded. There were 265 first cabin, 102 second cabins and 750 steerage passengers. The Mongolia carried 15,000 tons of freight. The weight carries no idea of the bulk, which may be indicated by the information that there are 7000 bales of cotton in the cargo and 2000 barrels of lubricating oil, as well as 7233 reels of barbed wire and 14 automobiles.

Mikado's Cruisers Convoy Rich Merchantman Across Ocean.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—Convoyed by two Japanese warships the Toyokisen Kaisha steamer Shinryo Maru reached port from Yokohama and docked at 9 o'clock this morning. Throughout the entire trip the vessel was guarded by the Japanese cruisers Kongo and Asama, the Japanese government desiring to take no chances on the capture of such a rich prize by German war vessels which may be in Pacific waters.

For a portion of the voyage the Japanese men-of-war kept very close to the Shinryo Maru, at other times they were just within sight and occasionally beyond the horizon, but in constant wireless communication.

On authoritative statement by one of those on board comes the information that there are eight Japanese cruisers guarding the lanes of travel on the Pacific ocean, besides the vessels of the English and French navy. This large fleet has practically driven the German warships to cover and the officers of the Shinryo Maru asserted that none of the merchantmen of the allies need have any further fear of capture on the Pacific.

The Shinryo Maru brought three distinguished Russians who are coming to this country, it is understood, for the purpose of purchasing supplies, including a colonel in the Russian army and two merchants. The vessel brought, besides a general cargo of imports, a million dollars in bullion.

The Shinryo Maru is the first trans-Pacific liner to make the entire journey under the protection of warships. It is evident that the allies have planned to have a large fleet in Pacific waters, and that there will be no interruption to travel and the various lines will be able to operate as on the Atlantic.

The bonds will be issued for reimbursement purposes. The commission authorized today is a part of this $28,000,000.

The Southern Pacific Railroad Company is a subsidiary corporation of the Southern Pacific Company.

Banker Ill, Wife Speeds 3000 Miles

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Mrs. Frank A. Vanderbilt, wife of the president of the National City Bank, who is ill at her home in New York, is expected to arrive in New York this morning after a transcontinental trip from Los Angeles to reach her husband's bedside. All through the journey she has been kept informed by telegraph in any condition. Mrs. Vanderbilt went west more than two weeks ago to visit friends. At that time her husband apparently was in perfect health. It was said last night that his condition was favorable and that he would be able to be about again in a fortnight.

Too Much Alcohol in Medicine, Charge

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Oct. 24.—John Davis, chairman of the Methodist book concern, was exonerated yesterday by the Holston Methodist Episcopal conference on charges of putting a high percentage of alcohol in his proprietary medicine he manufactures. Investigation was made by the conference on request of the Book River conference of Illinois, before whom the charges were lodged by the Medical Journal of Chicago. Fraudulent advertising also was alleged, in its report the conference declared none of the charges was substantiated. Suit for $500,000 damages brought by Patterson against the Medical Journal now is pending.

STABBED IN QUARREL

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—George Davis, a cook, of 423 Pacific street, is at the Central Emergency Hospital suffering from a dozen razor wounds as the result of a quarrel over a woman in a room at the Keystone Hotel, 245 Montgomery street, at 3:30 this morning. Davis, together with John Gomez, who was the most highly esteemed member of the German colony and of the German Verein, passed away last night at the family home on B street. Hayward was 36 years of age and had lived for half a century in the community. The deceased is survived by a daughter, who is vice-principal of the Hayward grammar school.

HAYWARD PIONEER DIES

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—Mrs. Katherine Hayward, 36 years of age, died last night at the family home on B street. Hayward was 36 years of age and had lived for half a century in the community. The deceased is survived by a daughter, who is vice-principal of the Hayward grammar school.

OAKLAND CENTER HOLDS SUCCESSFUL MEETING

At one of the largest and most successful meetings in the history of the Oakland Center of the California Civic League, several hundred members assembled in the south room of the Hotel Oakland and heard a final resume of the measures on the November ballot. Mrs. Minnie Bunker presided as chairman of the day.

Desiring every person present not to confuse the amendments affecting the annexation of Oakland by San Francisco, Owen E. Hotel, chairman of the Alameda County Publicity Commission, strenuously advised the passage of Nos. 19 and 20, the vote down of 21. Number 19 would protect Oakland from any future necessity to defend herself against any would-be annexer, he pointed out. Hotel also urged the Alameda County Exposition contribution.

Home Rule in Taxation?

"Home Rule in Taxation" was the subject of two addresses. John Z. White of Chicago argued vigorously its advantages. Professor Carl Piehn of the University of California speaking in opposition. Prof. Earl Lindsey, in a concise talk on a number of the amendments, considered it both undesirable and unfair to tax schools of collegiate standing.

This measure affects only Mills College and St. Mary's College in this county, he emphasized. Tacking such schools would bring in but little revenue, while giving a decided advantage to highly-endowed private educational institutions, which special legislation had been set outside such a law. Needless practice and the Sunday rest provisions were condemned as badly drawn.

MT. LASSEN EMITS FLAMES AND LAVA AND SHAKES EARTH

REDDING, Oct. 24.—Just as twilight was obscuring the outlines of Lassen peak last night its craters spouted forth a huge column of smoke, estimated at 12,000 feet high.

Continuous rumblings and slight vibrations of the earth preceded the eruption, the fifty-ninth recorded.

There was an explosion this morning and reports from Mammoth lake indicate that the craters had a period of considerable activity, beginning at 8 o'clock last night.

Last night's eruption was featured by the emission of flames and hot stones, according to reports from forest rangers. This was the second time that fire had been seen to illuminate the usual plume of black smoke. The rangers said the volcano's flare was distinctly reflected against the sky.

The explosion was accompanied by continued rumblings.

Out of the 300 members of Oakland Council No. 6 a degree team of 40 is now being selected by a recruiting committee of three under the direction of Major H. J. Leonard for next year's state assembly with the League of the Cross Cadets. When the boys of No. 6 will appear in the parade at the exposition.

Cops and Kiddies to Work Hand-in-Hand

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—A way by which the policeman may be able to convince children that he is not their natural enemy but their friend was outlined at a conference today between the school and police authorities.

Police officers in full uniform will be sent to schoolhouses next Monday morning to tell the children in a convincing way how much money they might save the city by preventing the destruction of asphalt by bonfires, particularly around election time, and how, if the children will save the city this money, it will be spent for playgrounds.

There will be other talks on the danger of careless play in the streets. The effort to show the children their responsibility in these matters proves successful, the plan will be followed regularly in all the New York city schools.

POLICEMAN RUN DOWN BY SPEEDING MACHINE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—Motorcycle Policeman Howard Walsh of the Bush-street station was hurled to the street and injured, and his machine was wrecked in a collision with a speeding automobile which failed to stop shortly before 11 o'clock this morning.

Walsh was left lying dazed and bleeding on the pavement, the car dashing ahead and paying no heed to his calls to stop. Walsh incurred a broken foot and numerous bruises.

ROOF FIRE DOES DAMAGE

THIRD BANDIT MAKES HIS ESCAPE

Officers Flash Light on Bridge
Disclosing Bank
Robbers.

BELLINGHAM, Wash., Oct. 24.—Deputy Sheriff Wilson Stewart of Whatcom county shot and killed two of the Sedro-Woolley bandits at 12:20 this morning as they were endeavoring to creep across the Great Northern bridge at Ferndale. Deputy Stewart had rigged up an electric light in expectation that the robbers would attempt to cross the bridge some time during the night. Hearing cautious footsteps on the bridge, a private detective named Stater called to the men to halt and throw up their hands. Stewart turned on his light and as the bandits drew their revolvers the deputy and his aides opened fire, killing two of the bandits instantly. Both men carried large amounts of gold upon their persons, suspended about their waists in money belts.

PAIR HAD $3098.

The dead bandits, according to a description given over the phone by Deputy Stewart, are about 30 years old, one dressed in gray clothes, weight about 150 pounds, and the other wearing a dark brown suit, weighs about 160.

The taller of the two bandits had $1544.55 upon his person and the other $1543.55, a total of $3088.10. The money was practically all in gold, the tall bandit having $55 in currency, $64.45 in silver and the remainder of the $1500.45 in gold. The second bandit had $35 in paper money, $26.65 in silver and the remainder of $131.55 in gold.

The cash was carried in money belts. The men, according to Stewart, have the appearance of being Russians. Both were armed with 38 automatic revolvers with a plentiful reserve supply of cartridges. Filled separate clips ready to thrust into the guns.

"A third bandit accompanied them," said Deputy Stewart, speaking over the phone from Ferndale at 11:15 a. m. "I did not see him or hear him for the reason that he turned down a path at the far end of the bridge. Some of the posse stationed on the other side of the river from us saw him and one of the men shot at him. When at the sound of the shot, he turned and fled down the path which runs along the river bank."

"He cannot get far away from the river, and I have sent an automobile loaded with men to head him off."

CIVIC ORGANIZATION ROASTS BUDGET CLAIMS

Criticizing budget claims and urging that members aid in the anti-tax charter planned by the Tax Association, the Alameda County Civic Association at its meeting last night at the Chamber of Commerce held a return of the Association on Revenue Finance John Ford for twenty-five copies of the budget.

Budget methods under the present charter were criticized by H. G. Barnard of the Tax Association, who declared that at present it is impossible to get a budget before the tax rate is fixed.

"It seems equally impossible to get a copy now that the rate is fixed," he complained, "and the association desires to study the budget in the hope of being able to effect a reduction in next year's taxes."

The association recommended to its affiliated organizations that they aid in the campaign for Amendment 19, the "Oakland Amendment," and against the proposed Amendment 12, the "San Francisco Amendment." The meeting adjourned to December 10. At this time it will be given copies of the Tax Association charter plan on which to work.

FINERY BRINGS TROUBLE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—Harry Lane's alleged scheme to dazzle a fair charmer with the aid of a $175 diamond ring belonging to a friend, resulted early today in his arrest on a charge of felony embezzlement. The complainant is Daniel Lopez of 2129 Lombard street, who declares that Thursday night he and Lane went to a dance in Majestic hall, Fillmore and Geary streets. Lane, he says, prevailed upon him to lend him his ring, promising to return it after the last dance. Lopez did not see Lane again until today and on falling to obtain a return of his property he called on Officer James Miller. Lane was locked up at the city prison.

WILLIE HOPPE INHERITED MUCH OF HIS GENIUS AT BILLIARDS

Remarkable Boxer Bendigo Was Youngest of 21 Children.

When Willie Hoppe was born, just 27 years ago, his father kept a billiard parlor in Cornwall-on-the-Hudson, New York. Willie was born in a room back of the parlor and the first sound that greeted his infant ears was the click of the ivory balls.

The cue ball began his education on the green top table when he was only six and had to stand on a chair to make his shots. Hoppe Sr. was determined that his young hopeful should become exactly what he has become—the greatest cue ball wizard in the history of the game. His billiard education was continued six days a week and 52 weeks a year, until at the age of 12 Hoppe could make snookers and slousers and Schaefer plays their niftiest game to hold him even. Since then Hoppe has triumphed in numerous matches against the world's best players. He has tasted defeat, but he has always come back strong and recovered his lost laurels. And his defeat compared with his string of victories, are but as a drop in the bucket.

Willie's father was a clever billiard player and his distinguished offspring has always inherited his father's genius for making the trick shots. Hoppe's education was continued until he was 18, when he was sent to the University of California to study law. He is now a member of the bar and is a successful lawyer.

Outside of billiards his favorite sports are swimming and baseball. His proficiency as a swimmer was shown when he first met Mrs. Hoppe when he rescued her from the surf at Atlantic City. One of the most remarkable men of the ring, William Thompson, better known as Bendigo, was born in Nottingham, England, 182 years ago. The champion was the youngest of 21 sons and was one of triplets. The triplets were named Charles, Michael and Bendigo, and the last was abbreviated to Bendigo, the name which Thompson adopted when he became a professional.

He lived to be 70 and in his latter years, after having won notoriety as the champion of the world, he was reformed and died a Bill Sunday act as an itinerant evangelist. His mother, to whom he was deeply attached, was a wild woman and was always ready to pull the hair of her neighbors. She always declared that when "Bendigo" was fighting the world, the hair of his mother was going by the tickling of her clock.

"When Bendigo is winning," she explained, "the clock says 'Bendigo' and when Bendigo is getting the worst of it I hear an' say 'Bendigo'." When in his cups Bendigo carried on regardless. When arrested he always sent out for a bunch of flowers, which he placed on the table and then he was called, and this, with his pious expression of repentance, usually got him off with a light fine.

The ring produces no such characters, although John L. Sullivan, in his youth and under a full head of steam, could give a pretty fair imitation of old Bendigo.

If he hadn't lost his temper and whipped an Admiral of the Chilean navy, James Edward Britt might have celebrated his 50th birthday as a plutocrat. He was a bright, ambitious man to get on in the world, so he just naturally adopted boxing as the shortest road to wealth.

He had reached his majority Jimmy was well started in his chosen calling. In his hours of ease and relaxation he was able to sport the swiftest and strongest of pugilists. It was this fondness for sartorial embellishment, including the wearing of people viewed his getup with respect and awe and even the rich-rub boys of the side streets when they heard Jimmy's name. One evening, when he was in upon a cafe, where, as usual, gasps of envy and admiration greeted him, saw one of his rich-rub boys, who was a rude fellow, some six feet in all, who answered to the name of Jimmie. He was a big, burly fellow, an admiral of the Chilean navy and was some gaudy and fussed up, but Jimmy's rude but naturally made him look like a piker.

Now James stood only five feet and a half and weighed around 130 pounds, but that didn't deter him from seeking redress. Jimmy took the fellow by the throat and sent him down for the first time. The man was a heavy-weight, but he had the reputation of being an expert boxer, and Jimmy's feat made him a hero.

This man's name was Nelson and Young Corbett, but lost on a foul to Gans. The next year he met the famous main and was knocked out and in 1907 Gans put the kibosh on Jimmy's boxing career. Later he was knocked out by Packer McFarland. A more important bout was fought in London five years ago, when Johnny Summers put him to sleep. After that Jimmy took to the stage and he has got away with a big haul. The distinguished Californian, Jim Corbett, Britt has real talent as an actor. He has traveled all over the world and is said to have added quite a bunch of money to the mangled remains of the $75,000 he accumulated during his ring career.

We Knew It Was Coming; It Came

There may have been worse seasons than the Pacific Coast League season that played out the Oakland grounds yesterday, but our dope book fails to show it. The play-off game was generally expected to be a close one, and it was. The Oakland team played with a determination and a host of bonehead plays for which there is no place in the box score. The Oakland team, however, seemed to care greatly. The score: Oakland 11, Mission 7.

Seals Slip, Slide and Fall in Ninth

The Seals actually looked winners in their game with Portland yesterday, but the pennant boys from the north evidently have had a habit of putting over four runs in the ninth inning. Pete Scandriglio had all the dice of things until the first half of that fateful frame, but a walk, a hit and an attempted sacrifice, which went for one base on Jerry Downes' error, filled the bags. A little more stick work brought in four runs, pushing the Seals down to a 3 to 3 defeat. Score: Portland 3, Seals 3.

Angels Trim Tigers, But Can't Catch Ducks

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—By winning today's game from Venice, 6 to 1, while San Francisco lost to Portland, Los Angeles made its hold on the pennant. The Coast League season practically certain. The Angels hammered Koestner while Love held the Venetians last night. Score: Angels 6, Venice 1.

WHOO! H. HOGAN ON STUMP!

Shifting from one national pastime to another, Happy Hogan, as soon as his Venice Flyers complete the present baseball season, will enter politics.

Mr. Hogan will take the stump to advocate the candidacy of Harry A. Chamberlin, Republican nominee for the assembly from the seventh-second district.

Happy denies that his honest-to-goodness business—which is Wallace Gray—has anything to do with his decision to become an orator.

He also denies that he has personal ambitions in politics and as such as his Venice Flyers complete the present baseball season, will enter politics.
